THE GROWTH IN GREAT BRITAIN

Told by Dr. Waller, of London-Rev. James Donnelly Thinks that Methodism is in Danger from a Spirit of Self Glory-The Wonderful Progress in the United States of all the Branches of the Church---Some Interesting Figures.

Washington, Oct. 8 .- The second days' session of the Ecumenical Methodist Council was opened with devotional exercises, a most eloquent prayer being offered by Rev. Griffin W. Wilson, of England, who has achieved a notable reputation as a missionary among the Feejee islanders. When those services were concluded, the secretary, Rev. Dr. King, called the roll of dele-

The business committee named Bishop Merrill, of Chicago, and Rev. Dr. Arthur, of London, to preside over the conference during the second session of the third day and the first session of the the third day and the first session of the fourth day respectively.

The subject assigned in the programme for consideration during the morning session was "The Present Status of Methodism in the Eastern Section," and the essay was delivered by Rev. Dr. Waller, of London, Secretary of the Weslevan conference.

Wailer, of London, secretary of the Wesleyan conference.
Dr. Waller in speaking of the status of Methodism in Great Britain and Ireland said it was important to bear in mind the sphere in which it has had to move, the ecclesiastical atmosphere it has had to breathe and the influences with which it has had to contend.

has had to breathe and the influences with which it has had to contend.

When in 1774 John Wesley sent to Dr., Coke to establish the Methodist Episcopal church in the United States he said: "In America there are no bishops, neither any parish ministers—so that for hundreds of miles together there is no one either to baptize or to minister the Lord's Supper."

GREAT GESTACLES.

It is difficult, he said, to exaggerate the social, political and ecclesiastical torces with which Methodism has had torces with which Methodism has had to contend. Victories have been achieved in the presence of almost insuperable obstacles.

In Ireland the work has had to be carried forward against an intolerant Romanism, a power with which the American will yet have to reckon. Dr. Waller then gave statistics to show the phenomenal progress the charch has made during the past thirty years. During the decade, said Dr. Waller, the population in England has increased 11.7 per cent, and in Scotland it has inper cent, and in Scotland it has in-creased 7.9 per cent, but in the same period-the membership of the Wesleyan Methodist church in Great Britain has Methodist church in Great Britain has increased 21.2 per cent and in the other Methodist churches there has been an increase of 10.1 per cent. This status of a church, said Dr. Waller, is determined to a great extent by the way in which it enters into the educational work of the nation. No church can live, grow or prosper that does not care wisely and lovingly for the children of the people. In England there are nearly 2,002,000 scholars in the Sunday schools. The status of Methodism, continued Dr. Waller, is determined by its missionary zeal. Recently there has been a re-Waller, is determined by its missionary zeal. Recently there has been a remarkable revival of home missionary enterprise. The way in which Methodism is endeavoring to solve the problems of city life and the manner in which she is striving to make her strength effective in the redemption of the masses of mankind from the bondinge of poverty, degradation and sin is attracting the attention and admiration of all classes of the community. of all classes of the community.

THE PROGRESS.

Dr. Waller then gave statistics to show the large increase made during the past ten years in the number of church members and of children in the Sunday schools. In Ireland he said the increase in the number of church members is only 5.8, but during the decade there has been a decrease in the popu-lation of 9 per cent. But the fruit of Irish Methodism is to be found in many lands, and especially in the United States. French Methodism alone shows states. French recholish alone shows a decrease, but the circumstances have been exceptional.

In conclusion Dr. Waller referred to when he declared that it was the pur-pose of God in raising up Methodism "not to form a new seet, but to reform the nation, particularly the church."

Methodism is not and never has been a sect. Its eatholic spirit and dectrine have prevented it from falling into a narrow sectarianism.

Rev. John Medicraft, of Manchester, representing the English Methodist New Connection, followed Mr. Waller, Rev. James Donnelly, of Newry, Ire-land, Vice President of the Irish Methodist Conference, was the next speaker. He said that the church was in danger He said that the church was in danger from a spirit of self glory. Some times he felt reason to regret the parade and boasts that Methodism was the largest Protestant church in the world. The Methodist church in Europe was gathering up the little waifs from the greets, it was looking to public morals, whether it was gambling in high or low-life.

The secretary announced the receipt of a memorial from the general assembly of the Presbyterian church concerning the settlement of international difficulties by arbitration. A recess was then taken.

AMERICAN METHODISM.

AMERICAN METHODISM.

The afternoon session of the council opened with devotional exercises, after which Rev. Bishop Chas. H. Fowler, of San Francisco, read an essay upon, the present status of Methodism in the Western (American) section.

"Methodism," he said, "never whipped a Quaker or burned a witch, nor banished a Baptist. History tells us that the present status of American Methodism is the resultant of a numbered forces of heart and brain, tide and tempest, of climate and temperature, of transit and eclipse through ture, of transit and eclipse through countiess ages. A hundred years of growth on this soil and in this free State has produced a condition of life dissimilar from any other development among men.

Then there was but one Methodist denomination and only one annual con-ference, once 83 travelling preachers and 14,088 members. To day there are fifteen denominations of Methodists. The one conference has multiplied into about 300 and the 83 travelling preachers have multiplied into 31,765, besides 30,000 local preachera, and the 14,988 members, actual communicants, have multiplied into over 5,000,000, with 5,000,000 Sunday school children and a following of over 20,000,000 souls in the

of each working day, and the Freedman's Aid Society is doing a large work in view of the field it has to occupy.

Bishop C. B. Galloway, of Jackson, Miss., representing the Methodist Episcopal Church South, who followed Bishop Fowler, devoted his remarks largely to the subject of the status of of Methodism in this country. Speaking for the South, he said that it had a rich Methodist heritage. The first Methodist society was there organized and the first chapel built. The first Methodist missionary society was also organized there. The first native itinerant Methodist preacher came from under the southern skies and Jesse Lee went forth from the South to evangelize went forth from the South to evangelize New England.

THE DEAD LEADER.

The Grief Throughout Ireland on Account of His Death-Comments of the News-

LONDON, Oct. 8 .- It has been decided to hold a post mortem examination on the body of Mr. Parnell with the view of settling definitely the cause of death. Mr. John Dillon, M. P. for East Mayo, and Mr. William O'Brien, M. P. for East Cork, who are in Ireland, were seen yesterday and asked for an expression of views for publication in regard to the death of Parnell. Both the gentlemen referred to distinctly refused to say anything upon the subject. A dispatch from Brighton sent at 3 p. m., says the doctors' certificate which has just been filed states that Mr. Parnell's death was caused by rheumatic fever, resulting in excessive temperature and failure of the

It was eventually decided at the fam-ily council held this afternoon that Mr. Parnell's remains shall be accorded a public funeral, and that the body shall be interred at Avondale, county Wick-low, Ireland, where the dead leader was

It has now been decided that the funeral ceremonies of Mr. Parnell will be held at the cemetery at Glasneven, a village about three and a half miles north of Dublin, on Sunday next. north of Dublin, on Sunday next. The body will arrive in Dublin Sunday morning and will be taken in state to the City Hall, and from there the inneral will proceed. Extensive preparations have already been commenced in view of the monster demonstration which is sure to follow. The announcement of the forthcoming post morten examination to negaritely demortem examination to accurately de-termine the cause of death has created great misgivings in certain quarters.

PARNELL WAS WARNED To be Careful of his Health but Did not

London, Oct. 8 .- Dr. Joseph E. Kenny, M. P. for South Cork and treasurer of the National League, in an interview published to-day, says that a month ago he was suddenly summoned to attend Mr. Parnell, who appeared to be tend Mr. Parnell, who appeared to be suffering from debility. Dr. Kenny on that occasion advised Mr. Parnell to place some restraint upon his appear-ances in public, particularly when such appearances necessitated taking part in political debates or making campaign speeches. Mr. Parnell, however, did not take Dr. Kenny's advice, but con-tinued to push the fight with all possi-ble vigor and untiring earnestness.

ble vigor and untiring earnestness.

Mrs. Parnell is still prostrated with grief and though weak and exhausted from long watching and the terrible shock experienced she positively refuses to partake of any food or refreshment and will only see her daughter.

A family council will be held to-day at Walsingham Terrace, and the necessary arrangements for the funeral will be made after a consultation with the committee of Irish members of Parliament, who have been deputed to take part in such preparations.

PRESS COMMENTS

On the Death of Parnell-What the Irish Papers Say.

Dunlin, Oct. 8 .- United Ireland taunts Mr. Healy with threatening to drive Parnell to his grave or a lunatic asylum, and satirically asks whether Healy is happy now that "the grave is open for one who was the glory of manhood-a son of Ireland, abler than Grattan, greater than O'Connell and full of love for Ireland."

The Freeman's Journal says: "We claim that a great effort should now be made to close with his death the sad history of the last few weary months of fratricidal strife."

The "Times" on His Death. LONDON, Oct. 8 .- The Times says:

"Although Parnell lost his inique commanding position won by shrewd manip manding position won by shrewd manip-ulation of political passion because of his vices, yet he retained power of con-siderable importance. Like Boulanger, the proximate cause of his fall was the indulgence of illicit passion. In one case passion operated to paralyze the man himself, in the other it arrayed his foes and rivals against him. Par-nell owed his success to his power to note and his keenness in trading on the weaknesse and vices of humanity. For note and his keenness in trading on the weaknesses and vices of humanity. For the men and women, whether immediate colleagues or peasants, serving as counts in his game, he had nothing but frigid apathy and contempt, which tradile in the baser instincts of mind is to inspire. That, with a character essentially repellant, he succeeded in inspiring actual enthusiasm, is the highest evidence of the greatness of his intellectual ability. It was combined and co-related with an entire indifference for moral restraint of every kind. Although once fully recognized by Mr. Gladstone, this peculiarity was conveniently forgotten when it became desirable to capture the Parnellite vote."

French Comments.

French Comments.

Paris, Oct. 8 .- The Debats says that Parnell became merely an embarrass ment to his former partisans. His death is an essential service to the liberal cause of home rule.

Le Soir says the event restores Irish party cohesion and renders certain the defent of the conservatives at the coming general election.

Parnell Mourned in Hallfax.

HALIFAN, Oct. 8 .- The news of Parnell's death produced a profound sensation in Halifax. Among the English people, and especially among the officers of the army and navy, Parnell had a of the army and havy, Parnell had a very large number of sympathizers as well as among the Irish' population. The general opinion among his compatriots is that his death was most opportune for Ireland, as it will lead to the immediate union of all sections of the Irish party and make home rule a possibility.

Business Suspended in Ireland.

Dunlin, Oct. 8 .- Most of the stores throughout the leading towns of Ireland are closed to-day out of respect for initiplied into over 3,000,000, with 5,000,000 Sunday school children and a following of over 20,000,000 souls in the republic.

The "church extension societies are building a new church every two hours are building a new church every two hours building a new church every two hours are solicitations for interviews upon Mr.

MARRIED IN JEST.

Miss Voorhees, of Morristown, Weds Her Lover Unexpectedly.

New York, Oct. 8.—The social sensation of Morristown, N. J., during the past twenty-four hours has been the secret marriage of Miss Lillie Voorhees, one of the bright, particular stars of society there, to Mr. Harold C. Heverin, the son of James II. Heverin, a prominent criminal lawyer of Philadelphia.
Miss Voorhees met Mr. Heverin some time ago, and the two became engaged.
This fact is no secret, and the young labels forces. F. Vesteres.

This fact is no secret, and the young lady's father, George E. Voorhees, a well-to-do hardware merchant, and the rest of her family appear to be well pleased with the engagement. About three weeks ago Miss Voorhees went to Haverstraw, N. Y., to visit a relative. Either by accident, design or prearrangement she had been there but a short time when Mr. Heverin also appeared.

The first thing he did was to call upon The first thing he did was to call upon his fiance, and invite her for a drive. On their return Miss Voorhees says that Heverin accused her of having ceased to love him. This she emphatically denied, and to prove her constancy by having a betrothal ceremony before a civil officer, she laughingly consented. The counle then drove to the office of a justice of the peace, who performed the marriage ceremony. Miss Voorhees claims that not until the justice in-formed her that she was legally a wife did she realize that she had been de

She immediately returned to her father's house but said nothing about the affair, and it was not until a party who was in Haverstraw at the brought the news that the fact became public. Haverin has not been seen since his bride returned home, nor is anything known as to his whereabouts. Miss Voorhees has, up to the present time, received no communication from

The father of the young lady said yes-terday afternoon: "There was no rea-son known why the secret marriage should have taken place, as there were no objections to the union at the proper time and place.

ON THE LOTTERY PLAN. Arrest of the Promoters of a New Plan of Lending Money.

Philadelphia, Oct. 8. — Detectives went this evening to the office of the California Loan and Trust Company, 1345 Arch street, and placed the men in charge under arrest. They gave the names of E. C. Dutton and George E Dimmick, and said they were from Boston. The arrests were made on a warrant charging them with setting up and maintaining a lottery.

Three days ago Dimmick started busi-

Three days ago Dimmick started business by extensively advertising the loan company which was established, as he alleged, on entirely new principles. A caller at the officer received a flattering prospectus of the operations of the concern. All that was required of a customer was a dollar, for which he received a certificate bearing a number and closely resembling a lottery ticket. On the second day of each month "loans" were awarded by lot by the company ranging from $5 to lot by the company ranging from $5 to $19,000, the promise being that 4,000 loans, aggregating $60,000, were awarded every month. Circulars giving full de-scriptions of the plans and the lists of loans said to have been awarded in the past were shown to visitors. Where such persons could be induced to act as agents they received as many tickets as they wanted to dispose of.

CAMPBELL BRINGS SUIT

For Libel Againt the Cincinnati Commer clai Gazette.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 8 .- Governor Campbell, through his attorneys in Cincinnati, has now filed two suits for damages against the Commercial Gazette, each ages against the Commercial Gazette, each for $50,000. Both are based on publications concerning the Governor's indebtedness and his payment of the expenses of a Democratic club from Columbus to Cleveland at the time of his nomination. It is said he contemplates bringing a criminal charge against the managing editor of the paper.

Decided Against the Bishop.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8 .- At to-day's session of the general conference of the Evangelical Association, the report from vestigate and try the case of Rev. Vestigate and try the case of the value of from the ministerial functions by Bishop Bowman, decided without dissent that the suspension was unlawful, unjust and opposed to the discipline of the church.
